

In reference to international orders of Emotiva Audio Products:

Thanks for your interest in Emotiva Audio.

We currently do not have international distributors, and primarily ship within the continental US . If you are outside of the US and would like to purchase our products, would be happy to assist you if you agree to the following conditions:

Payment method: This would be done via an international wire transfer of funds from your bank to ours. Our financial person will contact you and provide the details and a quote to initiate this transaction.

Shipping: Our equipment is generally quite heavy, and international shipping is accordingly very expensive. We can discuss shipping methods with you and ship to you in the most cost effective manner, but tracking the package and guaranteed delivery may be beyond our control.

Servicing Issues:

1. We will thoroughly test the unit(s) to make sure they are working properly before it leaves Emotiva.
2. If service is required, the cost of shipping to us and return shipping is the sole responsibility of the end user. Should you chose to have the servicing done locally, we would offer any needed technical support by email or phone, as well as send any necessary parts.

If these terms are agreeable to you, and you'd like to pursue purchasing Emotiva products, you can initiate the process by contacting me at cathy@emotiva.com, or by calling 1-877-EMO-TECH. International purchases are handled on a case by case basis.
